

THE Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the fellowship of the Holy Ghost, be with us all evermore. Amen.

Address by the Rev. G. J. T. HARKER, M.A. (O.G.)

HYMN.

O God, our help in ages past,
Our hope for years to come,
Our shelter from the stormy blast,
And our eternal home.

Under the shadow of Thy throne
Thy saints have dwelt secure;
Sufficient is Thine Arm alone,
And our defence is sure.

Before the hills in order stood,
Or earth received her frame,
From everlasting Thou art God,
To endless years the same.

A thousand ages in Thy sight
Are like an evening gone,
Short as the watch that ends the night,
Before the rising sun.

Time, like an ever-rolling stream,
Bears all its sons away;
They fly forgotten, as a dream
Dies at the opening day.

O God, our help in ages past,
Our hope for years to come,
Be Thou our guard whilst life shall last,
And our eternal home.

THE BLESSING.

REV. GEORGE STYLE AND GIGGLESWICK SCHOOL.

AN APPRECIATION.

It is fifty-three years since the Rev. George Style, M.A., who passed away on January 16, was appointed Head Master of Giggleswick, three years after the report of the Public Schools Commission. The school, like most of the old Grammar Schools, had been hampered by the method of appointment of its governing body by perpetual co-optation, and the obsolete character of its ancient Statutes. After an inspection by Mr. J. G. Fitch (afterwards Sir Joshua), Sir James Kay Shuttleworth, Mr. Walter Morrison, and Mr. C. S. Roundell were appointed Governors, and a new scheme was inaugurated, which came into force in 1872. It was decided that the school should be developed as a first-grade modern school. Latin, French, German or Greek, English subjects, mathematics and science were to be the subjects of the curriculum. Mr. Style had been a master at Clifton for two years, and he closely followed Dr. Percival in his general methods of conducting the school. He was fortunate in getting on his staff Dr. Marshall Watts, under whom the teaching of chemistry, physics, and botany rapidly developed, and arrangements were made for the building of a chemical laboratory.

Mr. Style found fifty-six boys in the school, three of whom were boarders in the new hostel. Under the new régime the numbers rose rapidly. The three-term system was adopted, instead of half-years, and the holidays were increased from ten to fourteen weeks. In 1876 new class rooms were planned, and were built gradually, and later the big school and large covered playground were added; and by 1890 the school had risen to over two hundred. In 1897 the remarkable school chapel, with its Byzantine dome, was given by Mr. Walter Morrison, and was opened in 1901. Between 1880 and 1890 nineteen University Scholarships were won, and twenty-two boys took first classes, mainly in Science and Mathematics, but the Classics were not neglected. The Head Master was before his time in realising that Classics could be read for their contents rather than as a linguistic study, and Science scholars found, when they got up to the University, that they had read as much Latin and Greek as their classical brethren. Seventy-five lines of Lucretius was a normal preparation.

Mr. Style was a man of remarkable personality. He realised the change in the times and the genius of his place. Music was from the first a great feature in the school activities, and "Bubble and Squeak" on Sunday evenings (otherwise sausage rolls and classical music) is remembered with affection by many old boys. A keen inquirer after knowledge of all kinds, and a keen cricketer, he stimulated the boys alike in the class room and in the playing fields. His example of intense loyalty to the Queen (a former master had become her private librarian), to the school, and to his old pupils was an inspiration which has lasted through life. When he came to Giggleswick the Settle-Carlisle Railway was being built, and the Victoria and other caves of Craven had lately been explored, and the boys were brought into close contact with men like R. H. Tideman, Boyd Dawkins, and McKenny Hughes. On Ascension Day, which was a holiday, he took the whole school for a long expedition. The present writer remembers scouring the Fells above Kirkby Lonsdale for half the night with the Head Master in search of four boys who were missing at the station call over.

This close sympathy with the boys gave him an extraordinary power over them, and an Old Boy who came into close contact with Lord Kitchener during the war said that at last he had come across a man with as keen an eye as his old Head Master. He never forgot a name or a face, and one of the chief pleasures of his declining years was to hear of the doings of his old pupils. Many of them followed in his steps, and notably George Howson, who revived Gresham School, Holt, twenty years ago, on very similar lines to those he had watched at Giggleswick.

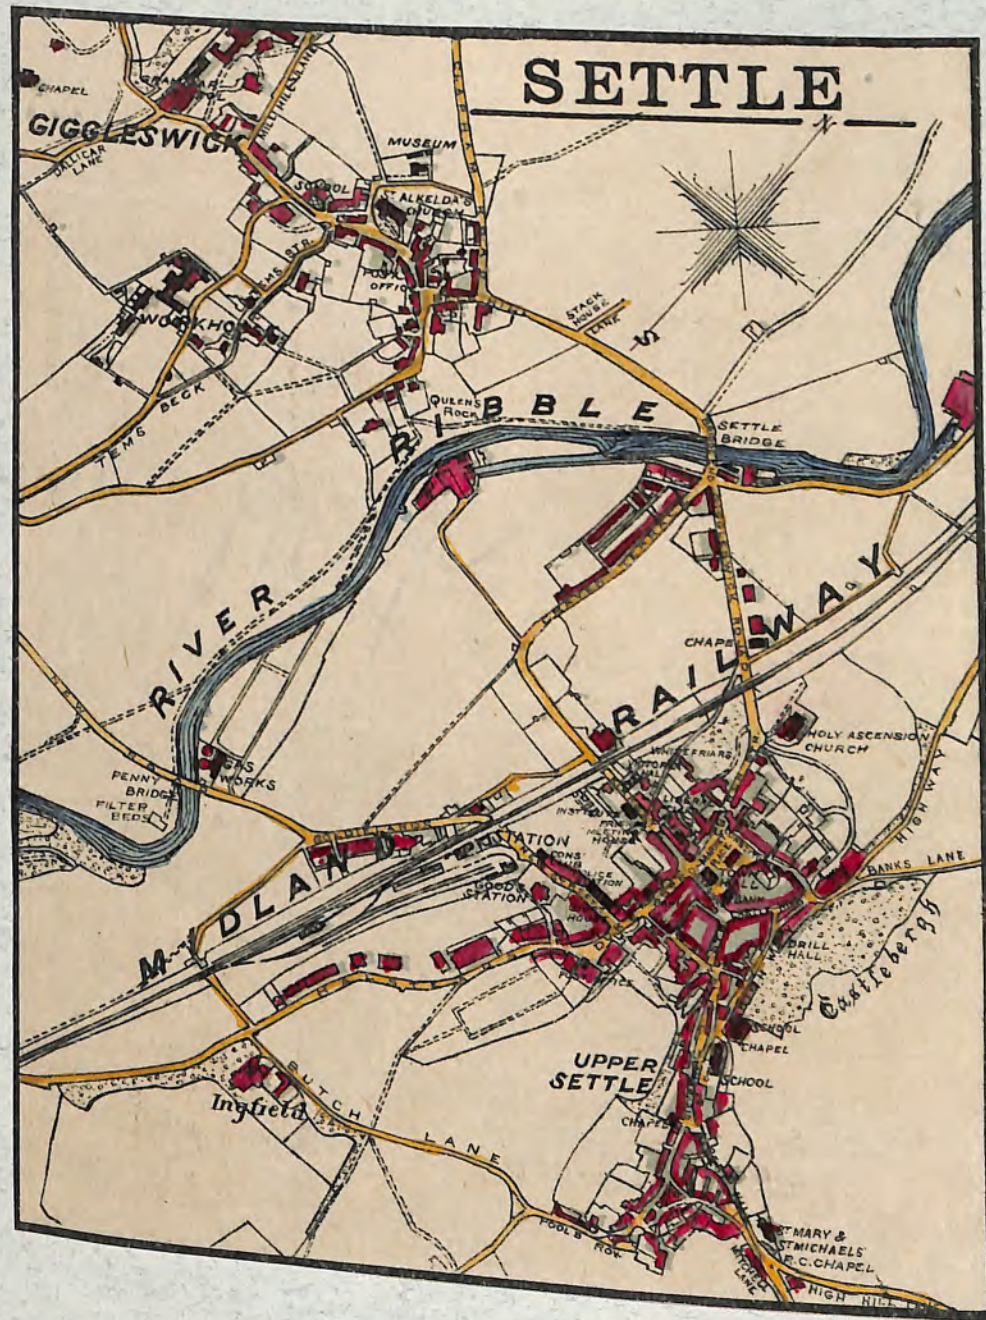

Since 1904 Mr. Style had been rector of Chisbury, Dorset, where he carried on his education Committee and Chairman of the Governors of Wimborne School. It is characteristic of his life that every inhabitant of the village was present at his funeral.

Dallicar Lane, Giggleswick, in Winter.

Mr. URBAN, Sept. 30.
 I REQUEST the favour of a place in your entertaining and useful Miscellany for the following account of a very curious and remarkable phenomenon, the unexpected appearance of a piece of water at the distance of two miles from Settle in Craven, as it may not be familiar to, or unworthy the observation of, a few among your numerous and ingenious readers.

The method I shall pursue, in order to describe it in the most intelligible and satisfactory manner, is, 1st. by relating the circumstances attending its rise, continuance, and situation; 2dly, by subjoining a delineation of it with the admeasurement.

1st. This water was first discovered about three years ago; and, as far as I can recollect, did not increase gradually, but was of its present magnitude soon after, if not immediately upon, its first appearance. There was not, according to the information I have received, any remarkable fall of rain at the time, nor any other visible cause which could account for such a phenomenon; but, even if rain could be supposed to be the first cause of its appearance, since it has continued with little alteration for the space of three years, and during the severe drought of the present summer, we may fairly conclude that the supply of water water will be regular and permanent. The quantity produced in the course of twenty-four hours must be very considerable, as it furnishes water for sixty large cattle, exclusive of what must necessarily be carried off by evaporation.

1794.] Remarkable Phenomenon near Settle, in Craven. 997

It is situated on the summit of a high mountain, surrounded on all sides with limestone rock. The ground near it is remarkably dry, nor was there ever before that time known to be any water in the place. The above circumstances are in direct opposition to those which usually attend similar phenomena, as low and swampy ground, with others, generally are sufficient to afford a plain and easy solution. There are no springs in the lands adjoining, except one at the distance of half a mile, and that much below the level of this now under consideration*. 2dly. The axis major AB of the figure, which is nearly an ellipse, is 30 yards 1-8th; the axis minor CD is 23 yards 1-8th. Consequently the area is nearly 18 perches, 2 yards, 5 feet, 3 inches.

The depth at point W is	2	2	2
Ditto - X	3	0	5
Ditto - Y	2	1	7
Ditto - Z	3	0	3
Ditto	8	1	7

The periphery of the figure 83 1 7 This admeasurement was made after a drought of two months, when the water must be supposed less than at any other season of the year. If any of your ingenious correspondents can give an account of a similar phenomenon, they will much oblige a constant reader.

* There are several springs at the foot of the mountain, among which is that remarkable one the ebbing and flowing well, none of which is in the least affected by the appearance of the present water.

TESTIMONIAL TO THE REV. ROWLAND INGRAM,

Late Vicar of Giggleswick.

Several Friends of the Rev. ROWLAND INGRAM, M.A. have expressed a wish to join in some public acknowledgement of his long and able services. For 26 years he has been with but little interruption the spiritual guardian of the parish, either as its Vicar or Curate. Those who have listened to his able discourses in the pulpit, or who have witnessed his conscientious discharge of all his duties as a minister, whether in maintaining the public services of the church, or in ministering spiritual consolation to the sick, or in practising self-denial at home and charity abroad, need not be reminded of the claims he has on their respect. Nor should it be forgotten that Mr. Ingram, whilst he was Vicar of this parish, earnestly promoted by his exertions and private contributions the erection of new Churches to relieve the spiritual wants of the parish and neighbourhood. On these grounds it is felt that many who have shared in the benefits derived from Mr. Ingram's ministrations will gladly come forward on this occasion, and aid by their advice and contributions in securing some public expression of regard for one, who has himself so long held the important position of their Minister, and with whose departure a name which has for sixty years been honoured amongst us, ceases to be connected with this neighbourhood.

Subscriptions will be received at the Craven Bank, Settle, to the credit of Mr. Thomas Brayshaw, the Treasurer.

Mem. Thomas Brayshaw died, as the result of a fall, soon after this appeal was issued, so did not live to see the carrying-out of the project.

ment to the Church; for they have not. The Church has drawn its congregation not so much from within as from without the village. A Methodist was once preaching at the Cross when Parson Clapham and Rowland Ingram, sen., passed by. Mr. Ingram said, "We ought to put a stop to that." "No," said the sensible old vicar, "I have for fifty years been trying to do these people good, but they are too much for me; let him have his try." But the "try" failed. If it had succeeded, and the Methodists had gained some foothold and built a chapel, it would have been none the worse for Giggleswick. Nonconformity would have given Giggleswick a healthier village-life.

THE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

There has always been a close bond between the Church and the School.

The School was the child of the Church. It was founded in 1507 by James Carr; and was endowed, on the petition of John Nowell, vicar, in 1553. The School is now in its fourth home. The first stood in the "church-garth," and was a plain, quaint structure, an illustration of which, taken from an old print, is given in one of Mr. Brayshaw's Local Tracts. The second was built about 100 years ago. The third, which stands on the north of the Church and just outside the boundary-wall, is now used mainly as a joiner's shop, where the school-boys are taught how to make boxes and mend their broken chairs—a singular use for so fine a building to be put to! (How much this building would be worth to Settle, as a real town-hall, if it could be lifted and carried there.) The School is now housed in the splendid suite of buildings that have been erected within recent years.

Until within the present generation the School was free; and many boys were equipped for useful service, and rose to honourable places in life, who, if the School had not been free, would probably have remained unknown. There was strong local opposition to the Revised Scheme when it was laid before the parishioners, and meetings were held in protest. Many felt that the School would be practically shut against the boys of the parish, but open to the sons of the rich, from whatever quarter of the world they might come. There was much truth in this. But if we take a wider than parochial view of things we must see that the School is doing a great work, such as it never did or could do under the old régime. We hope that the time will come when all the great schools will be free,—not to any boys that may choose to knock at their doors,—but to all boys of proved capacity and merit; when for all such boys the way will be clear and open from the Elementary Schools to the Grammar Schools, and from the Grammar Schools to the Universities. And there are many now living who will probably live to see that day.

The School Buildings. The Hostel was built in 1869, and enlarged in 1874, and now accommodates about 150 boarders. Bankwell, formerly the residence of the late Mr. J. Birkbeck, and Holly Bank, both on the opposite side of the village, are used as boarding-houses for boys under 13 years of age, who are under the presiding care of Mr. G. B. Man- nock. On the ground adjoining the Hostel are the new school-buildings, which were opened in 1886, and which comprise the large assembly-room and twelve

TO THE PAROCHIAL ELECTORS OF THE PARISH OF GIGGLESWICK.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

Having been asked by a number of Electors to be the Candidates of the INDEPENDENT Party at the coming election of Parish Councillors, we have consented to be so, and we therefore appeal for your votes and support.

We have no desire to represent any particular class or section, as we believe in political and religious equality; we therefore include in our list of Candidates both Unionists and Liberals, Nonconformists and Churchmen, Cottagers and Property Owners.

As the working of the Parish Council is as yet in an initial stage it is impossible to draw up any definite programme, but we deem the public LIGHT-ING OF OUR STREETS to be an object worthy of immediate and careful consideration.

Another important point that will come under the direction of the Council is the administration of certain CHARITIES. We think no effort should be spared to bring as large an amount as possible under the control of that body, and we pledge ourselves to use our best efforts to ensure a fair and equitable distribution of the same regardless of religious or political opinion.

Bearing in mind the increase already made to our rates, our great object will be to ensure the practise of such ECONOMY in our public affairs as shall be consistent with progress and efficiency, and the interests of the Ratepayers of the Township shall be our study.

The Election will be held on Saturday, the 15th of December, 1894, at the National School, Giggleswick, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., and we trust we may on that occasion meet with your support.

THE VOTING IS BY BALLOT.

PARISH COUNCIL ELECTION, 1894.

TO THE PARISHIONERS OF THE PARISH OF GIGGLESWICK

Having been called by a number of Members to be the Candidates of the PARISH COUNCIL at the coming election of Parish Councillors, we have endeavored to be so, and we therefore appeal for your votes and support.

We have no desire to represent any particular class or section, as we are in politics and religious equality; we therefore include in our list of Candidates both Unitarians and Laborers, Nonconformists and Churchmen, Cottagers and Property Owners.

At the meeting of the Parish Council in its first meeting it is intended to draw up a definite programme, but we have the public interest in view to be an object worthy of immediate and careful consideration.

Another important point that will come up for the election of the Council is the administration of certain CHARITIES. We think no effort should be made to bring us into any account as regards the control of that body, and we ourselves to use our best efforts to ensure a fair and equitable distribution of the same, regardless of religious or political opinion.

It is our aim to bring the various objects made to our great object to be ensure the practice of such ECONOMY in our public affairs as shall be consistent with progress and efficiency, and the interests of the Ratepayers of the Township shall be our study.

The Election will be held on Saturday, the 15th of December, 1894, at the School, Giggleswick, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., and we trust we may on that occasion meet with your support.

PARISH OF GIGGLESWICK.

Election of PARISH COUNCILLORS, 1894.

Polling Day, Saturday, Dec. 15th.

Poll open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Register Number:—

Name:—

Abode:—

YOUR POLLING STATION IS AT

The NATIONAL SCHOOL, GIGGLESWICK.

When inside the polling station you will give your number and name as above, and a ballot-paper will then be handed to you. See that the presiding officer stamps your ballot-paper before he gives it to you.

The method of voting is to place a X on the right-hand side, in the square space opposite the name of the Candidate whom you wish to support, and you are requested to vote for those candidates opposite whose name a X is placed on the form of ballot-paper overleaf.

Observe:—Do not sign your name, or initials, or make any other mark than the X, for if you do your vote may be lost. When you have marked your ballot-paper fold it up, show the stamp at the back, not the X, to the presiding officer, and drop the ballot-paper, not this form, into the ballot box.

You have nine votes and can only vote for nine candidates.

class or lecture-rooms. Between these buildings and the Hostel is the Laboratory which is admirably equipped with both teacher and apparatus for instruction in the physical sciences. The school-curriculum includes classics and mathematics; English, French and German; chemistry and physics; also drawing, music, swimming and gymnastics. The forms in both upper and lower school are under the charge of a full staff of efficient masters. The School in the completeness of its arrangements, and in its educational results, holds a high place amongst the endowed schools of the nation. The Rev. G. Style, M.A., has been head-master since 1869.

Referring to the Giggleswick head-masters, the late Dr. Butterson, writing at Christmas, 1889, said, "Is it not a remarkable fact that since 1745, when the father of Archdeacon Paley was made Master of Giggleswick, the only head-masters that have since died have been old Paley himself and his successor Mr. Ingram; two only in 145 years."

Terms and Fees. The year is divided into the now usual three terms. There is an entrance-fee of £2 for boarders and of £1 for day-boys. The tuition-fee for day-boys is £4 per term. For boarders under 13 years of age the charge is, for tuition, £5, and for board, £15 per term; and for boarders over 13 years of age, for tuition £8, and for board £16 per term.

The Parish Council. The Council consists of nine members. It is as yet in the first year of its life. "Let not him that putteth his armour on boast as he that taketh it off." The Council's first
