NATIONAL WAR SAVINGS.

WAR WEAPONS WEEK.

Dear Sir (or Madam),

The Township and Rural District of Settle have been invited to make a special effort to secure further investments in War Bonds. The National War Savings Association makes the suggestion that a Special War Weapons Week would bring the matter prominently before the public, and that our aim should be to obtain at least £30,000.

It is pointed out that the District has been immune as regards Air Raids, and that the possibility of Air Raids is remote. Let us be anxious to protect the citizens of less favoured Districts by making huge investments in War Weapons Week for the purpose of increasing our supply of aeroplanes.

You will gather that some local organization is necessary to carry out the above suggestion, and I am desired to invite you to attend a public meeting at the Town Hall, Settle, on Wednesday next, the 5th June, at 7 o'clock in the evening, to discuss the matter. It will be the business of the meeting to fix the date of the War Weapons Week and to appoint a small Committee to carry out the project.

I trust we may be assured of your practical interest, and I am earnestly to express the hope that you will make an opportunity to attend the meeting.

Yours faithfully,

H. Beulah Harrison

Acting Secretary.

Settle's Quota.—The National War Savings Association asks every town and village for a War Weapons Week. A representative meeting was held in the Town Hall on Wednesday. Settle has fixed for itself and district the week commencing 17th June and ending 22nd June. The object aimed at is a fleet of aeroplanes, and it is hoped Settle and district will provide at least 12 aeroplanes, or a minimum of £30,000.

War Weapons Week: Encouraging Start.—A War Weapons Week is being held in Settle and district this week. An effort is being made to raise £30,000 and there is every prospect of the amount being obtained. A fortnight ago an energetic committee was formed with Mrs. Harrison as hon. secretary, and the week commenced on Monday. The public buildings and many private houses were bedecked with flags, and the people of the district generally have done their best to make the effort a success. To persuade the farmers a public meeting was held in the Settle Market Place on Tuesday and the scheme was explained by Mr. John Waugh (who occupied the chair), Mr. Walter Morrison, Mr. W. Clough M.P., Mr. W. S. Threlfall, Mr. G. K. Charlesworth, Mr. Edward Taylor and others. There was quite a representative meeting and it is hoped that the efforts of the above gentlemen did not fall on deaf ears. The Settle School children raised £50, and the total result up to Wednesday night was £27,226, which is very encouraging.

LONGPRESTON.

War Implements.—A public meeting was held near the Concrete on the 20th inst. to induce the inhabitants to invest further in War Funds. Mr. G. H. Archer, who presided, said the lady collectors for the funds had in Longpreston taken about £600, and the amount paid in at the schools was nearly £500. Mr. Threlfall, of the W.R.C.C., said they were particularly indebted to Mrs. Shipman and Miss Parker for the part they had taken in securing subscriptions, and he also quoted Longpreston as an example of what could and had been done. A speech was also given by Mr. E. J. W. Douglas. Settle Brass Band was in attendance and gave selections of music. Mr. J. W. Butterworth, manager of the Settle Branch of the Bank of Liverpool, moved a comprehensive vote of thanks to all who had assisted, and Mr. Stockil, manager of the Settle Branch of the London City and Midland Bank, seconded, and the resolution was carried.

WAR WEAPONS WEEK.—The township and rural district of Settle have been engaged in a great effort to secure further investments in War Bonds, and a special "aeroplane week" was held from the 17th to the 22nd of June. The quota for the district was fixed at £30,000. A representative committee was appointed on June 5th, and they at once set to work. With so little time available for preparatory work the campaign was a great hustle, and, judging from the result, wonderfully well organised, thanks to the devotion of the committee, and the untiring enthusiasm of the chairman (Mr. G. K. Charlesworth) and the hon. secretary (Mrs. Allan Harrison, of Stackhouse). The result of the campaign was made known on Saturday evening, when the treasurer (Mr. E. J. W. Douglas) announced to a large gathering that the sum of £67,852 3s. (made up of National War Bonds £63,520 and War Savings Certificates £5,332 3s.) had been raised. Of this amount considerably more than £3,000 was raised by the various schools in the district. The amounts passed through the banks included subscriptions of £10,000 from the Pearl Assurance Company and £3,000 from the Prudential Society. In addition to Settle township the following districts were included in the area covered by the campaign: Austwick, Clapham, Kea-den, Giggleswick, Halton West, Otterburn, Helli-field, Horton-in-Ribblesdale, Helwith Bridge, Selside, Kirkby Malham, Langcliffe, Longpreston, Malham Moor, Rathmell, Settle, Stainforth, Tosside, and Wigglesworth. During the course of the week various public meetings were held and addressed by Mr. Wm. Clough, M.P., Mr. Walter Morrison, Mr. Ed. Taylor, Mr. W. S. Threlfall, and other local gentlemen. The Settle Brass Band voluntarily placed their services at the disposal of the committee, and their musical selections undoubtedly added to the success of the public meetings. The response that has been made is most gratifying, and the district is to be congratulated that more than double the amount asked for has been raised.

A RED CROSS FETE AT CLAPHAM.

BY KESTER.

OR the moment I had forgotten that motor cars cannot be sent down to meet mere passengers at the station, and relieve them of a couple of miles' walk on a hot day. Looking round absently for such a car—for it had been said that the train would be met—I asked a horsey-looking man near a waggonette whether anything was coming from the Hall to meet this train. There was a carriage, he said, just coming in, and at that moment a pair of white Arabs spanked in with one of those low, spacious waggonettes that seem to suggest deer parks and landed proprietors.

Three ladies and an old gentleman stepped in, and the man whom I had addressed said there was room for me. I hoped in an audible manner that I should not overcrowd the carriage, and on being assured that I should not, joined the party much as a mouse—if one may say so without seeming offensive—might join a party of cats round a saucer of milk. Trying to look as if I didn't know it was their milk, I paid marked attention to the scenery we passed from Clapham Station to Ingleborough Hall.

It was the kind of scenery one might pay considerable attention to without attracting the sense of politeness. My private thoughts were concerned somewhat seriously with the reception at the Hall. With Mr. and Mrs. Farrer I had no acquaintance, though a mutual acquaintance, whose car I had thoughtlessly expected to be at the station, might ease the situation if only he were within hail.

Waggonettes of the hired variety stopped at the entrance to the grounds and discharged their passengers, who walked the remainder of the distance to the Terrace. This seemed to promise a loophole of escape.

But although it was rather magnificent to spank through the entrance behind a pair of white Arabs, still the thought of a reception before crowds of people at the main entrance, by a host and hostess who were welcoming the remainder of the occupants of the carriage with effusion, and who might quite pardonably fail to distinguish the other occupant from Adam—and whose presence the party could not account for—made me feel as disconcerted as a stowaway when he hears the search party tapping the barrels in his vicinity. Would much attention be paid, I wondered, if I inadvertently opened the waggonette door before the house was reached, and quietly fell out.

Before I had time to do this we had spanked up to the door which a butler was opening, and I dropped out quietly, and wandered absent-mindedly on to the Terrace. When I saw the other party had not gone into the house, nor had there been any public reception of them, I picked up courage, and as I saw crowds of people emerging from the main entrance I asked the butler what time the concert, at which Mr. Lloyd Hartley was to play, would commence. The first concert, he said, had just finished, and the second one would be at 5.30. Then it was that I came upon the mutual friends I had yearned for, and they set me upon good terms with myself by introducing me to Mr. and Mrs. Farrer, and at once I felt that my fears of reception had been quite fantastic, for they would never have allowed me to feel like the discovered stowaway or the uninvited mouse.

With a climate specially prepared for garden fetes, the Red Cross Fund was bound to be greatly helped by the efforts of Mr. and Mrs. Farrer, who did not spare themselves to make the party a success. On such a day the mere pleasure of being able to roam about the beautiful grounds, and drink in the beauties of the scene, would surely have been enough for any one, but in these days, apparently, no matter how beautiful, the drinking in of scenery is not in itself accounted sufficient by many people; tea was therefore included in the entrance money.

A band made one forget whether one had had two or three cups of tea. He must indeed be of the worst kind of ignoramus who has never heard of the famous

Rock Garden at Ingleborough Hall, where specimens of every kind of rock plant from all over the world may be seen.

It is said that Mr. Reginald Farrer would take any risks to procure a rare plant. Whatever risks he has taken, he certainly has succeeded in getting some wonderful plants. Apart from rarity and risk, the rock garden is a thing of beauty and a joy for ever. For there is at all times of the year something to charm the eye. Just now the water lilies are particularly beautiful.

At five-thirty the seating capacity of the hall was taxed to its utmost, and the second concert commenced. Mr. Lloyd Hartley played some solos by Debussy, Macdowell, Mendelssohn, etc., and Mrs. Dunn and Miss Hunt sang, and the whole affair was of that short and sweet description of which the audience could well do with more.

Mrs. Farrer showed me a large number of paintings her son had done in China, both of flowers and of scenery. There was quite the Futuristic touch about the landscapes, due, one felt, more to the scenery than to the desire to be Futuristic.

The rooms were in themselves museums of that informal character that make for the only true museums. Museums as such, I think, are possibly the most appallingly dull places we can visit. Just as history is one of the most fascinating subjects under the sun, yet taken in bulk in the form of a school history is certainly one of the most repulsive, stodgy, uninteresting, and uninspired works of man. But a clever novelist can so fascinate you in an historical subject that you actually take a delight in looking up historical facts, and following the course of events that led up to the introduction of the hero into the story.

And so, with the coming of the novelist, those wonderful ornaments from China and from all parts of the world are introduced with a lack of formality, yet they take their places properly as in a well-thought-out schema, giving that interest that sets the mind working. If "pinching" had been permitted, bare rooms would quickly have resulted.

Following the concert there was a sale of animals in front of the house. A goat, sheep, a cat, doves, and fowls were put up and sold for the Red Cross. The bidding, however, was not very spirited, and I think those who had sent the gifts must have been disappointed at the prices they realised. But if there was disappointment in this direction, there was satisfaction in the gift of £500 which Lord Ashton sent to Mrs. Farrer for the Red Cross Fund, and in the crowds of people who, by enjoying an afternoon in the grounds, benefited this most deserving charity.

CLAPHAM.

Garden Fete at Ingleborough.—Held in the beautiful grounds of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Farrer on the 21st inst., a garden fete promoted by Mrs. Farrer with the object of assisting the British Red Cross Society, Y.M.C.A. munition hotels, and Settle and District War Relief Funds, was a great success both financially and socially. The proceedings were opened by Lady Barran, president of the Y.M.C.A. for the North of England Division, who in the course of a happy and interesting speech, dealt with the various objects for which the fete had been organised. She remembered how the occasion was a very favourable opportunity of proving our love towards God by manifesting it in a practical manner by our love for our neighbour. The British Red Cross Society and other kindred societies were doing more than we could adequately conceive towards alleviating the sufferings and ministering to our wounded heroes. All ranks of society were welded together in those efforts, and no work ever reached its highest beauty without self-sacrifice. Her Ladyship sincerely hoped that the efforts made by all their friends in connection with the fete might result in a substantial sum being raised for the cause they all had at heart, and concluded by thanking Mr. and Mrs. Farrer for their kindness in placing the grounds at their disposal that day.

A number of stalls were set out on the lawn (at each of which a good trade was done), in charge of the following:—American stall—Mesdames Barrow, Carter and Miss Metcalfe; cake and apron—Misses M. Turner and J. B. Tomlinson; sunbonnets—Misses S. Harrison and Edith Metcalfe; hats, Miss Pryke; china, Mrs. Farrer and Miss Pike; mothers' stall, Mesdames McCune and Redman; bran tubs—Misses, C. McCune and Redman; flowers, Mrs. Barton; plants and fruit—Mrs. Shepherd; children's stall—Miss N. Capstick; Austwick stall—Misses N. Watkins and Clapham; fancy stall—Miss Stowell (Burton-in-Lonsdale); competition stall—Misses Carter and Bell.

Rationed tea was served on the new drive, where the needs of the hungry were attended to by a numerous bevy of lady helpers. During the afternoon and evening the Giggleswick Brass Band played selections. There were side shows, including a Loan Curiosity Shop, and a house concert, at which Mr. Lloyd Hartley, the famous Yorkshire pianist, and the Misses Lena Dunn and Hunt delighted the audience with their repertoire. A vegetable and flower show was held in a marquee, but the entries were not so numerous. The judges were Messrs. G. Redman and J. Shepherd, who gave their awards:—Potatoes—Mr. E. Newsholme, 2 Mr. E. Barrow; tomatoes—Mr. A. E. Carter, 2 do.; onions—Mr. Nutter; sweet peas—Mr. A. E. Carter, 2 Mrs. McCune; carnations—Miss L. Slinger, 2 Canon Rawdon Briggs; phlox—Canon Rawdon Briggs.

Mr. R. Turner gave his services at a miscellaneous auction, and this added grist to the mill. There was also dancing on the lawn, and songs by the Austwick school children, under the conductorship of Mr. J. Moss.

Amongst those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Farrer, Sir John and Lady Brown, Lord and Lady Farrer, Revs. Canon Briggs, —Pike, R. Stowell, A. A. Sutcliffe, and Mrs. Sutcliffe, Mr. and Mrs. Delaney, Mr. Jas. Hird, Mrs. Welch, Mr. and Mrs. F. Mattinson, Mrs. A. Watkins, Mrs. Clapham, Mrs. and Miss Coates (the Rectory, Low Bentham), Dr. and Mrs. Lovegrove, Mr. Barton and Mrs. Clapham. The proceeds amounted to a little over £700, inclusive of a gift of £500 generously sent by Lord Ashton.

A service was held in the Settle Church, the collections being handed over for the benefit of the Diocesan Sick Fund and Morecambe Home of Rest. The garden fete was open to the public, games and amusements being provided, and during the afternoon the Settle Brass Band rendered selections. During the evening a concert was given. As a result of the effort upwards of £35 was obtained.

A Local Soldier's Success.—Private Harold Gill, the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. George Gill, of Parks View, Settle, is to be congratulated on his great success as a runner since joining the Colours. During last week he won four silver cups and one medal. A cup was awarded him as the winner of the seven miles cross country race, one for the champion and the other two for the two and one miles respectively, which were open to the Battalion. Private Gill is stationed at Guisborough Camp.

GIGGLESWICK.

MEDAL PRESENTATION.—A simple village function, the very homeliness and spontaneity of which added to its charm, took place on Sunday evening at the Ancient Cross, when the Vicar presented to Corporal Thomas Scambler, R.E., the Military Medal for bravery on the Field, which he had gained on the nights of 14-15th July, 1917. Captain Thompson, Mr. R. W. Douglas, and Mr. Alfred Barrow also spoke. After silence for remembrance of those who have fallen, a verse of the National Anthem was sung, and three cheers given for the recipient.

Dance.—Under the auspices of the Settle Branch of the St. John Ambulance Brigade a dance was held in the Drill Hall on Saturday. There was a large attendance and upwards of £9 was realised for the ambulance men serving at the Front, and also for helping to rebuild the St. John Ambulance Hospital in France. Wilson's Band was in attendance.

Another Local Soldier Wounded.—Private Alec Duxbury, of the Brigade Field Artillery, New Zealand Contingent, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Duxbury, of Settle, has been severely wounded and is in hospital at Walton-on-Thames, having been struck in several places by shrapnel, necessitating no less than 40 odd stitches being put into his different wounds. Private Duxbury also suffered from the effects of gas last April.

Local Officer Gassed.—Lieut. John Brennan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brennan, of Settle, is in hospital in France suffering from gas poisoning, but we understand that he is making satisfactory progress towards recovery. Lieut. Brennan has been on service since the commencement of the War, and, having previously been invalidated home, only returned to the Front a short time ago.

TRIBUTE TO BARNOLDSWICK STRETCHER BEARERS.

The gallantry and self-sacrificing efforts of the Barnoldswick stretcher-bearers has been acknowledged in our columns on more than one occasion during the course of the War, but the following spontaneous tribute received by Mr. W. E. Harper (chairman of the Barnoldswick Urban Council) a few days ago from a gentleman residing outside the district, and who prefers to remain anonymous, has a more intimate bearing on the subject than any previously published:—

"Dear Sir,—I see from the local newspapers that on more than one occasion you have paid a well-deserved tribute to the gallantry of the Barnoldswick men who are serving in His Majesty's Army. It seems to me, therefore, that you may be interested in a hitherto unrecorded little incident.

On the 29th July, 1915, the — Battalion of the Duke of Wellington's was being subjected to a heavy fire from the Germans on the banks of the Yser Canal. One of the men fell wounded by shrapnel, and a party of his comrades, headed by a young officer, went out to bring him into safety. As they were doing this another shell exploded near the party, and the officer fell badly wounded with a compound fracture of the thigh-bone. He got back to his dug-out, however, and in due time the stretcher bearers proceeded to carry him across the Canal, in the fact of a heavy fire, so that he might be conveyed to the base. Whilst they were carrying him another shell fell not far away, and the little party was exposed to very grave danger.

The ordinary course adopted by men under such circumstances is to throw themselves flat on the ground, so as to present as small a target to the flying shrapnel bullets as possible; but instead of doing this the gallant stretcher-bearers threw themselves across the body of the wounded officer, thus forming a living screen to protect him at the imminent peril of their own lives.

Why I trouble to tell you all this is because that young officer was my only son, and those brave stretcher bearers were "Barlickers." If I remember rightly a Sergeant Garratt was in charge of the bearer-party."

LIVE STOCK (SALES) ORDER, 1918.

NOTICE.

I hereby give notice that on and after the 26th day of August, 1918, every owner of Live Stock fit for slaughter must send his stock to:—

BENTHAM MARKET.

Schedule of Parishes:—

Thornton-in-Lonsdale, Horton-in-Ribblesdale, High Bentham, Austwick, Giggleswick, Langcliffe, Ingleton, Burton-in-Lonsdale, Claphamcum-Newby, Lawkland, Settle, Stainforth.

It is a summary offence against the Defence of the Realm Regulations to send for sale for slaughter, or to sell for slaughter, Live Stock in the above-mentioned parishes, except to or in the Market herein prescribed.

It is also a summary offence under the before-mentioned Regulations to move Live Stock fit for slaughter from one Live Stock Area to another without the consent of the Live Stock Commissioner, except that if any owner of Live Stock is farming or grazing land in two different Areas, he may move his Stock from one Area to another in the ordinary course, provided he gives notice to the Live Stock Commissioner for each Area within seven days of removal.

If any owner of Live Stock fit for slaughter is farming or grazing land in two adjoining parishes which are tied to different markets, he must send all stock fit for slaughter to the market to which the parish in which his house is situated is tied.

If any owner of Live Stock is dissatisfied with the market to which he is tied, he may appeal to the Live Stock Commissioner, who will give his appeal every consideration.

Christmas Presents to Local Soldiers:—The Relief Committee of the local War Fund have decided to again undertake the work of forwarding a Christmas gift to every man from this locality in His Majesty's Forces, but it has not yet been decided as to the exact form such gift shall take. In previous years parcels containing an assortment of edibles, stationery, wearing apparel etc., have been sent, but in consequence of the difficulty of obtaining many of such articles now-a-days, the necessity of being as careful as possible of food, and the fact that so many things can be obtained at a lower price, and of as good a quality at army canteens as at home, a strong feeling has been expressed that a postal order would form the best present, as each man could then purchase exactly what he most needs. Last Christmas the sum of £338 10s. was received for this object, £207 of which was from donations, collecting boxes, which was from the remainder was raised by entertainments organised by the teachers of Settle National School, St. John Ambulance Association, the ladies of Overdale School, Primrose League, Pumpkin Competition, the Women's Liberal Association, Mr. Edmund Handby, Langcliffe Wesley Guild, Settle Fire Brigade, collection at Giggleswick Church, Mr. Cromack's collection of flowers, Ingleboro Fete, etc. In addition to the cash donations the Ladies' Sewing Committee contributed hundreds of socks and other worked articles, friends sent scores of cakes, and numerous other donors furnished quantities of miscellaneous gifts. The cost of the 500 parcels (400 of which were sent abroad), grants to sundry Prisoners of War Parcels Funds, was £318 5s. 2d. and the balance of £20 was devoted to sundry war purposes such as Stranded Soldiers etc. As more parcels than ever will be needed this year it is hoped that the public response will be as substantial as ever.

Settle Rural District Food Control Committee.

Rationing of Butter and Margarine.

In order to secure an equitable share of the commodities of life, and uniformity as compared with other districts, at the request of the Food Commissioner for Yorkshire a scheme of rationing of the above articles will come into force from the 1st June.

Cards for such rationing accompany.

The method of dealing with such Cards is as follows:—

(a). Where a household obtains supplies of Butter and Margarine from a Retailer the Cards must at once be registered with such Shopkeeper and the instructions appearing on the back of the Card be strictly observed.

(b). Where Butter is bought direct from the Farmer making the same, the Cards need not be registered with such Farmer. The Cards must be produced and the coupons cancelled as stated below.

(c). Where the members of a household produce their own Butter they are required to adhere to the scale of allowances and rules applying to "self Suppliers," a copy of which can be obtained from the Food Control Office on application, accompanied by a stamped addressed envelope.

(d). Some of the members of the household may have their Cards registered with a retailer for the purchase of Margarine, and the others used for purchasing Butter from a Farmer provided the total ration is not exceeded.

The same Card cannot be used for the purchase of both Butter and Margarine during the same week.

The weekly ration allowed (except in the case of self suppliers) is 4 ozs. of Butter and/or Margarine per person (whether holding an Adult's or Child's Card), and this must not be exceeded.

On every purchase of Butter or Margarine a Card or Cards must be produced and the seller, whether a registered Retailer or a Farmer, must cancel the appropriate coupon or coupons (marked A. on the Card) relating to the week in which the purchase is made. A coupon must be cancelled for each 4 ozs. of either Butter or Margarine supplied. A supply for a fortnight may be purchased at the same time in advance, but in this case the two coupons on each Card produced for the two weeks comprising such fortnight must be cancelled.

Coupons 1 to 14 on the Card are out of date and the available numbers are as follows:—

Food Control Committee.—A letter was read from the Food Controller, enclosing order extending the period of appointment of the Food Control Committee to November 18, and the Clerk said it would be necessary to appoint a new committee or re-appoint the old one at that meeting. The regulations provided that the constitution of the committee must include two women, two representatives of labour; co-operative societies should be represented, but the presence of food traders in undue numbers was not desirable, and there should not be more than three farmers.—Cr. Ralph said there had been several comments and criticisms upon the action of the Committee, and perhaps it would be more satisfactory if more outsiders were elected instead of members of the Council.—The Chairman: There are seven members of the Council.—Cr. Charlesworth did not think it would make much difference, and several members expressed the opinion that the committee had not much power.—The Chairman said that the committee at present complied with the regulations.—Eventually the following were appointed:—Messrs. F. J. Haggas, J. Winskill, R. D. Metcalfe, E. Wright, J. Swinbank, C. Ralph, T. Harger, R. Sansbury, J. G. Leeming, Mrs. Pearson, Mrs. Warner, and Mrs. Frankland.

Miscellaneous.—A letter was read from Major Ramsden, asking for support to the 4th V.B. West Riding Regt., but the Clerk said he was not aware that the Council had any power to make a contribution.—A letter was read from the Coal Controller emphasising the shortage in fuel, and urging more stringent economy in coal.—A further letter was read from the Settle Parish Council with regard to the Town Hall clock being allowed to strike, and it was pointed out that at other places in the district the public clocks were allowed to strike day and night.—It was stated that a scheme was under consideration by which it would be possible to comply with the request.

SUGAR FOR JAM.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN—that it is an offence under the Sugar (Domestic Preserving) Order, 1918, to purchase Sugar upon Permits issued by the Committee, unless the quantity of fruit stated in the application form upon which the Permit was issued, IS ACTUALLY AVAILABLE FOR PRESERVING.

Sugar bought under these Permits cannot be used for any other purpose than preserving HOME-GROWN FRUIT.

Every person whose yield of fruit has proved less than the quantity estimated, or who finds that the Sugar cannot be used for the purpose for which it was granted, is required forthwith to return the Permit to the Food Office for cancellation. Failure to do this will render such person liable to prosecution.

(BY ORDER),

T. E. PEARSON,

EXECUTIVE OFFICER.
