

R.O.C.

Approximately 50,000 men & women volunteers formed the Royal Observat<sup>er</sup>ion Corps

Their job was to identify enemy planes and feed the information on number, height, speed and direction of the force back to Fighter Command.

Fighter Command would then scramble Britain's Fighter Squadrons and alert the Anti Aircraft guns.

