1873

On the 3rd of January, the Rev^d J. P. Lykes gave the scholars of the Sunday School a present of a Book: those scholars who had the greatest number of marks, or rather, had attended the greatest number of times, received the largest Prizes. (In the schoolroom) We gave the scholars their tea. When they repeated poems. & sang hymns. &c. When the Rev^d gentleman gave them a short address upon the duties of the Sabbath. The scholars then gave three cheers for Rev^d J. P. Lykes, and the same for the
